Attention: FCC

RE: - RM-11277, and other factors.

Dear Sirs/Madame,

I was reviewing <http://www.epic.org/privacy/iei/>, and it's my right, as a United States Citizen, and responsibility to send you this letter.

I honestly feel that security of our civil liberties is being infringed upon. Who is protecting us and, why is so hard for the government to understand that the invisible world is running the dictation of life. Who is afraid of whom?

Will all of the media attention regarding illegal wiretaps, and months prior, the media announced that both the FCC and FBI want consumers to have certain software installed on personal computers, so they can watch people that use their computers to make phone calls, instead of land lines, or cell phones, to mandated illegal activity.

Why is everyone eager to use the Internet, but afraid to actual have Internet police, and put a stop to the activities that bring a burden to our lives?

By continuing to allowing this kind of mind set, brings fear, confusing into a society that already has weakness because, of the darkness we have to deal with daily. Plus it enables the master minds behind this dimness a rise that they are invincible, yet they are already invisible.

Cell phones, computers, access to billions of internet sites is what society wanted, so we used our capacity of knowledge with people whom understood what sources it would take, to make it work, to accommodate everyone. A know fact with our daily lives, and on going changes in our life style in the 21st century, that everyone wants the best.

We have it, now we need to control it. Why is so hard to hinder the thought that illegal activities wouldn't be a result of this, with no police? In addition, who are the perpetrator performing these illegal acts?

It was designed how to make this intelligence to work, then controlling it can be decipher.

An example to the beginning of this solution, when a person wants to display their website to the world, then an application with a background check should be complete. A check-off list explaining "the bells, and whistle" of their product, what is the purpose to use the internet.

This is the whole problem; we don't have "control and constraints."

I realize the Internet source is world-wide, but why do we have the UN? We share resources world wide, and help multiple worthy causes.

Why not establish a department within this organized with trained intelligence to help fix the problem that will not go away. It will only escalate if we don't utilize our intelligence diligently.

Wouldn't be nice to think that we could eliminate the pornographic abuse, and possible help another area, like poverty?

Another problem with the Internet, we have many electronic devices that were created to help our government. A civilian, with enough intelligence can find "the know how" to make this equipment in their own home, and then use it against other civilians, world wide.

Here again, we have an abuse problem, someone with military back-ground has been allowed confidential, classified information, now it is on the internet. How else would this expertise end up there? In my opinion, and no doubt about it, our civil liberties are being infringed upon.

If this was happening to anyone in the government sector, the right people in those organizations would ensure that the problem was solved, and stopped but, when an ordinary citizen files a police report, contacts the FBI, or the FCC they are ignored, just because these branches of government don't know how to deal with it, or want to face reality.

Reality is, this isn't new to you, or any branch of government. There isn't anything wrong with admitting mistakes or faults, God didn't make anyone perfect. We are allowed to make mistakes, in order to make way for the future. But having one wrong and ignoring it, is another wrong, and deny these facts, isn't giving anyone a rights.

We need order, and peace, not havoc. And by ignoring these facts is only providing a chaotic setting in society that has morals and standards.

Therefore, we shouldn't live in a society that a government picks and chooses what they want to address, and what they want to ignore. And who needs that.

Being chosen or elected, for those positions should, and is a privilege, and honor. There is nothing wrong with that, because I too could make a difference in society with the ridicule I have endured for the past 2 ½ years.

The old saying, “Get off the pot, and let the show begin,” by taking control of these issues that know body wants to talk about.

This is something I’m very fervent, and desire an opportunity to further communicate with you. And possible a solution can elucidate these problems that obstruct to the “Will of Life.”

God Bless You,
